

This paper, taking into account Angola's economic prospects, puts forward agriculture, tourism and hospitality and non-oil mining as key sectors the Angolan government must develop to diversify the economy and realize Angola's full potential. While stressing the need to develop the value-chains in these sectors, improve education tailored to the needs of these sectors, and strengthen Angola's leadership role in the Southern African Development Community (SADC) as a means to develop each sector, the paper also puts forward policy recommendations that are fundamental to the growth and development of Angola's economy, these include, improving her physical infrastructure, creating a business-enabling environment, improving education and ensuring that Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) creates local value in terms of skills development for Angolans. key words: Fund, Fdi, foreign direct investmen, Economy, Economic Development, mutual funds investors, Research Topic, economy, economics, Economic Forecast, Economy, Oil Prices, Global Economy, Economic News, Economics Articles, Global Economy, Magazine, Financial Times, Diversification Definition, business strategy.
